City of Philly – Art Commission

Pandora, the trendy, pretty jewelry store, was planning to open a new store in the Art District of Philadelphia. The process is long and painful for permits in the City of Philadelphia already, but adding the Art District to the mix was more of a challenge. A challenge we were willing to accept!

The biggest complication with the Art District is that it requires Art Commission approval, and the Art Commission only meets once a month for reviews of plans. Once the Art Commission approves the plan we then must still receive the approval for the building and zoning, and finally approval for the electrical permits.

Once we received approval to move forward with all portions of the project we needed to complete the install of the sign after the store closed and also during a weekday due to the city's restrictions regarding equipment on the sidewalks.

We also needed to coordinate the sign inspection the same night, as this is a requirement for the City of Philadelphia's permits.

The finished signs look amazing. Our project managers worked very hard to make this work.

If you have a project in the city, please call us and please understand the length of time that may be involved for permitting. We will keep you updated every step of the way!

Extending Recognition to Employees

Recently we received an email thanking our team for some difficult work at multiple locations due to an urgent matter. We'd like to publicly share the email so our employees can be recognized for their hard work and dedication to our customers.

"I would like to take a few minutes to thank you for all your help last month..."

"I appreciate that you and your company completed successfully all the work orders that were sent. I do understand we did not have too much time to plan, however, your company did a great job. Your technicians called us to check in/out, took pictures and all the paperwork was submitted on time. I also appreciate your fast response to emails and calls.

Also, the repairs were completed most of the times during the first trip, which is the ideal. Please extend our gratitude to all your technicians."

Thank you, Magda, for providing encouraging and kind words to our staff. It means so much to hear positive and happy customers thanking us. It helps give the staff more encouragement to always put their best foot forward and to remember that we are here for you. We do make a difference in daily lives. Everyone is important, and a little act of kindness goes a long way. Northstar staff is happy to help!

D-Day—June 6th

In honor of D-Day, the day American troops and allies stormed the beaches of Normandy during WWII, Northstar Electrical Services would like to remind you to honor the WWII veterans.

Over 16 million people served during WWII. It is estimated that 492 WWII vets are dying each day. At this time it is believed that under 700,000 WWII veterans are alive today.

This war was a defining moment in history for not just America, but for all developed nations of the world.

We appreciate the sacrifice, dedication, and inspiration these soldiers have given.

Please join us in saluting these brave Americans.

Happy Birthday to our technician Dave and staff member Dawn!

Happy Father's Day!

To all the amazing fathers who encourage their children everyday to be the best person they can be, we appreciate you!
